Mission

Enable strategic capabilities for global strike.

Vision

Create the foundation for the future of global strike and global combat power.

Emblem

Approved 7 February 2019

Description: Celeste, in dexter base a sphere Argent, gridlined Azure, bearing a tiger's head affronté Proper, emitting from the sphere a contrail bend sinisterwise arching fesswise and terminating into a flight symbol of the third, fimbriated of the second, superimposed on the contrail a bend per bend Gules and of the third, surmounted by another of the second; all within a diminished border Or.

Significance: Ultramarine blue and Air Force yellow are the Air Force colors. Blue alludes to the sky, the primary theater of Air Force operations. Yellow refers to the sun and the excellence required of Air Force personnel. The tricolor bend suggests the colors of the flag of the United States and reflects the patriotism of the Wing's personnel. The flight symbol and globe denote the worldwide capabilities of the unit in support of combat engagements. The tiger's face symbolizes the Wing's aggressive spirit and reflects its heritage as one of the first units to perform in Vietnam. In the scroll, there is the 377 ABW motto:

“SERVING FREEDOM'S FINEST” in Blue letters.

Lineage

- ◆ Established as the 377th Combat Support Group, activated, and organized, on 8 Apr 1966.
- ◆ Redesignated as the 377th Air Base Wing on 17 Jan 1972. Inactivated on 28 Mar 1973.
- ◆ Redesignated as the 377th Combat Support Wing on 1 Jun 1985. Activated on 14 Jun 1985. Inactivated on 1 May 1991.
- ◆ Redesignated as 377 Air Base Wing, and activated, on 1 Jan 1993.

Heritage

The 377th Air Base Wing traces its origins to the 377th Combat Support Group (CSG), first activated at Ton Son Nhut Air Base, South Vietnam, on 8 April 1966.

The 377 CSG supported U.S. and South Vietnamese combat operations during the Vietnam War (1954 - 1975). In addition to aircraft, base and unit support, the unit's Air [Security] Police valiantly repelled several major North Vietnamese attacks before and during the infamous Tet Offensive of 1968.

Kirtland Air Force Base

Located on the southeast side of the City of Albuquerque, New Mexico, Kirtland Air Force Base (AFB) was originally built as a series of civilian air fields in the late 1920s. It first came under the control of the U.S. government as Albuquerque Army Air Base in 1941. In 1942, at the direction of General Henry H. Arnold, it was renamed Kirtland Field, in honor of Colonel Roy C. Kirtland, one of Arnold's early mentors.

Col Roy C. Kirtland

In 1948, shortly after the establishment of the U.S. Air Force, Kirtland Field became Kirtland Air Force Base. During its long history it has hosted numerous units and agencies. For a complete history of the base see the Base History section of the Kirtland Air Force Base webpage.

Organization

The 377th Air Base Wing serves as the host unit of Kirtland AFB and executes its diverse mission set via the concerted efforts of its key staff agencies and five major groups.

Wing Staff Agencies

Chronology

The Vietnam War (1966–1973)

8 April 1966: Activated and organized as the 377th Combat Support Group (CSG) at Tan Son Nhut Air Base, South Vietnam. The 377 CSG replaced the 6250th Combat Support Group and took on responsibilities for housing tenant organizations, providing for base defense and working with the South Vietnamese Air Force.

Jun-Dec 1966: Provided support for Seventh Air Force flying operations involving the Douglas C-47 Skytrain, C-123 Globemaster II, and C-54 Skymaster.

Chronology

The Vietnam War (1966–1973)

4 Dec 1966: The Tan Son Nhut AB perimeter was breached by approximately 180 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese Army soldiers targeting the flightline. The infiltration was ultimately repelled by the 377th Air Police Squadron (APS), with particular credit given to the efforts of several Military Working Dog teams. During the attack Airman Second Class George M. Bevich, Jr., was killed and became the first Air Force military dog handler to die in combat in Vietnam. A2C Bevich was posthumously awarded the Silver Star.

Chronology

The Vietnam War (1966–1973)

31 Jan 1968: As North Vietnam executed its infamous Tet Offensive, Tan Son Nhut was assaulted by over 1,500 insurgents. Five 377 SPS Airmen located in Bunker 051 on the west perimeter, immediately engaged and raised the alarm. Although the bunker was eventually taken, and four of the five Airmen defending it were killed (including the famed Sgt. Louis H. Fischer) their stubborn defense provided vital time for quick reaction forces to deploy. All five defenders received the Silver Star for their actions.

Chronology

The Vietnam War (1966–1973)

Sep 1971: The Group became responsible for supporting base flight operations for the T-39 Sabreliner, C-54, C-47, Douglas C-118 Liftmaster, and the Lockheed C-130 Hercules.

17 January 1972: As the Group took on an increasing number of complex roles including the addition of combat units, it was redesignated as the 377th Air Base Wing.

Jan-Oct 1972: Supported the 8th Special Operations Squadron as its Cessna A-37 Dragonflies conducted strikes against North Vietnamese targets.

Jan-Feb 1972: Supported the 9th Special Operations Squadron as its Cessna O-2 Skymasters and C-47s carried out psychological warfare operations.

Feb-Nov 1972: Operated the Southeast Asia Central Instructor Pilots School.

Feb-Nov 1972: The Wing's 360th Tactical Electronic Warfare Squadron conducted airborne radio-direction finding operations.

14 Apr 1972: Established an operating location for the wing headquarters at Bien Hoa AB, South Vietnam, to provide turn-around service for McDonnell Douglas F-4 Phantom IIs.

Mar 1972-28 Jan 1973: The Wing's 21st Tactical Air Support Squadron (Light) conducted air liaison and forward air control operations for U.S. and South Vietnamese aircraft.

Mar-Oct 1972: Operated a Combat Crew Training School at Phu Cat, South Vietnam, utilizing C-7A Caribou transport planes.

Chronology

The Vietnam War (1966–1973)

Mar-Oct 1972: The Wing supported the 310th Tactical Airlift Squadron (C/UC-123s, Jan-Jun 1972 and C-7s, Mar-Oct 1972) as it performed airlift and airdrop missions.

28 Mar 1973: After transferring base operations and assets to South Vietnam, the 377 ABW was officially inactivated.

Chronology

The Cold War (1985–1991)

1 Jun 1985: The 377th Combat Support Wing (CSW) was activated at Ramstein Air Base, Germany, to provide support services for Ramstein and the base's new fleet of General Dynamics F-16 Fighting Falcon fighter jets, operated by the 86th Tactical Fighter Wing. Not only did the 377 CSW assume host installation responsibilities for the entire Kaiserslautern Military Community, but it also supported numerous geographically separated units throughout Europe.

1 May 1991: Following the end the Cold War and a general draw-down of U.S. forces globally, the 377 CSW was inactivated.

Chronology

Post-Cold War (1991–Present)

1 Jan 1993: The 377th Air Base Wing was activated to assume host installation responsibilities for Kirtland Air Force Base, located on the southeast side of the city of Albuquerque, New Mexico. Since that time the 377 ABW has not only provided support and security for critical Department of Defense organizations such as the Nuclear Weapons Center and Sandia National Laboratories but also directly supports operations and testing for 20th Air Force.
