

Preschool and Prekindergarten Programs

New Mexico's Pre-Kindergarten (PreK) initiative prepares four-year-old children for success in school through funding from two agencies, the Public Education Department (PED) and the Children, Youth, and Families Department (CYFD). It was created by the Pre-Kindergarten Act of 2005. The purpose of the PreK program is to ensure that every child in New Mexico has the opportunity to attend a high-quality, early childhood education program before entering kindergarten by increasing access to voluntary high-quality pre-kindergarten programs and expanding early childhood community capacity. The program also strives to provide developmentally appropriate activities for New Mexico children, support linguistically and culturally appropriate curriculum and focus on school readiness. Enrollment for PreK services is prioritized based on the targeted communities that have the highest percentage of public elementary schools with high numbers of children from low-income families (Title 1 schools), some programs are limited to those living in the attendance zone of a Title 1 school and/or by family income limits. New Mexico PreK programs are not currently available in all areas. Many NM PreK classes are offered by private preschool and prekindergarten programs in conjunction with their own PreK (fee based) program. You can find more information at either the PED website at http://ped.state.nm.us/ped/LiteracyEarlyChildhoodEd_PreK_index.html, or the CYFD website at <https://www.newmexicoprek.org/> (CYFD's site has a listing of all their NM PreK programs).

Additionally, there are many private preschool and prekindergarten programs within the Albuquerque area. Included in this section is a listing of those programs with basic information to help you in selecting a program. All information was taken from each school's website.

A listing in this section does not assume a certain level of quality or a verification of information. It is strongly recommended you validate the credentials of any program you choose. One indicator of a high-quality early childhood education program is being accredited by nationally recognized organization. The process of achieving and maintaining accreditation is no easy feat. It involves staff and family participation, classroom observations, and health and safety checks. The accrediting agencies have high standards that often go above and beyond our state's minimum licensing requirements for child care centers. The most stringent early childhood education accreditation body is the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC), another nationally recognized accreditation organizations is the National Early Childhood Program Accreditation (NECPA). As there are numerous PreK and private programs that are accredited, I have not included information on non-accredited programs.

SpringStone Montessori School is not a typical preschool, daycare or childcare center. SpringStone is an early learning, private school utilizing the Montessori Method as its curriculum. They believe that children will learn best by exploring their natural curiosities at their own pace. The learning is hands-on and interactive. The emphasis is on our children becoming whole, balanced and health individuals. SpringStone's philosophy is for the children they serve to grow and learn in a rich, educational environment, with loving caring staff and maintain safety at all times. They provide a hands-on classroom with learning materials for all of the main areas: practical living, sensory, math, art, music, language as well as geography, history and science. Absorbing a broad understanding of the world through hands-on materials, the children move about freely, choosing their "work" with responsibility and freedom. Their independence and self-confidence grow as they learn through projects that allow them to learn as individuals, at their own pace and to reach toward their full potential.
